Record-Triggered Flow

The screenshot displays the Salesforce Flow Builder interface. On the left, the 'Debug' panel shows the flow's execution details, including the start condition: 'This flow was triggered as if the service__c record was created.' The main canvas shows a flowchart starting with a 'Record-Triggered Flow' icon, followed by 'Start', 'Run Immediately', 'Get Records', 'Update Records' (highlighted), and 'End'. The right sidebar provides configuration options for the 'Update Records' step, including fields for 'Label', 'API Name', 'Description', and a section for 'How to Find Records to Update and Set Their Values' with radio button options. Below this, there are settings for 'Update Records of This Object Type' (set to 'Service') and 'Filter Service Records' with a condition 'All Conditions Are Met (AND)'.
